Description: The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) was established to provide a unified core for the vast and complex national network of the more than 87,000 organizations and institutions at the federal, state, and local levels involved in the effort to secure the nation. The comprehensive national strategy seeks to develop a complementary system that connects all levels of government without duplicating effort. Strategic goals include: awareness—identify and understand threats and vulnerabilities; prevention—detect, deter and mitigate these threats; protection—safeguard people, critical infrastructure, property and the economy from acts of terrorism, natural disasters and other emergencies; response—lead, manage, and coordinate response to such emergencies; recovery—lead efforts to restore and rebuild; service—facilitate lawful trade, travel and immigration; and organizational excellence.

Description: The Office of Health Affairs (OHA) contributes to domestic health and the security of the nation, working in full collaboration with other DHS components and federal partners. The responsibilities carried out and overseen by this office do not replace any other programs within DHS but rather enhances these other programs in planning for and responding to the consequences of catastrophic incidents. The three divisions of the OHA are: Weapons of Mass Destruction & Biodefense; Medical Readiness; and Component Services.
